

Regrading my blog's PDFs

Lo Min Choong Julian @ Lahyte

28 February 2022

Table of contents

Table of contents	2
Regrading my blog's PDFs	3

Regrading my blog's PDFs

The viewing experiences of websites are meant to be seamless. External links that are often and content heavy are frowned upon. However, on this day, I decided that I ought to switch from HTML to PDF because: (1) it takes forever to convert google doc text into HTML, and (2) it forces a higher level of documentation from me. This way, more things are documented and ultimately standardised.

I don't like it because it breaks certain web design principles. But I do it anyway. My brain is screaming no, bad, and boo, no one reads these, and even more no one reads these now that it's in PDF.

But no. Just no. PDF. Yay.